

Why it pays to trade at Davidson's CASH STORE

FIRST.

Because you don't have to pay the salaries of bookkeepers and collectors. You don't have to pay interest on capital carried in book accounts and you don't have to pay for the man who don't pay.

SECOND.

Because at Davidson's Cash Store you may find an aggregation of thousands of the useful things under one roof, and many of them at half the price you pay elsewhere.

If you know the measures we take to insure the purity and freshness of our drugs, if you were familiar with the safeguards we throw about the compounding and various other methods peculiar to this store, you could not help having entire confidence in the accuracy of any prescription we put up.

To have such service—to feel safe is worth something and it costs nothing extra.

MEETINGS WILL CONTINUE.
The interest in the revival meetings at the Church of Christ is so great it has been decided to continue them during Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings. There were three confessions last night. Mr. Cronenberg's sermon was on the subject "A reckless young man," and the story of the prodigal son was the basis of his remarks. He discussed young men in every phase of life. Mrs. Swiggert sang "Where is my wandering boy tonight." There will be special music at tonight's meeting. The services begin at 7:30 and the invitation is cordial and general.

NEW CORPORATIONS.—Articles of the following corporations were filed in the office of the county recorder yesterday: Costa Rica-Panama Railroad, Coal, and Timber company, capital stock, $25,000,000, incorporators, E. A. Chubb, R. B. Burton, and J. Ernest Walker; Palmetto Mining and Milling company, incorporators, F. O. Altinger and G. S. Johnson; Manhattan Gold Crater Mining company, capital stock, $1,000,000, incorporators, G. W. Summerfield, W. S. Johnson, and J. Hoffman; King Solomon Mining company, capital stock, $1,200,000, incorporators, W. C. Edwards, M. J. Fitzpatrick, and L. S. Moreland; Do-hesa Gold Mining company, capital stock, $1,000,000, incorporators, F. M. Greeng and S. Wellnesson; Merchants Insurance Agency, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, P. G. Hanson, W. Furst, and J. H. Tenyoorde.

MORE EVIDENCE.—Garcia and Quiros, the two Mexicans arrested Monday night by Officers Carl and Tipson for stealing the tools of Mr. Burroughs, the painter, are undoubtedly guilty of a series of larceny enterprises hereabout, and yesterday there was developed new evidence of their crookedness. Garcia was identified as one of the men who sold the Navajo rugs that were stolen from Easterling & Whitney. Quiros was taken to the abode of both men, corner of Seventh and Madison streets, yesterday and the premises were searched. There was found in a gunny sack three good laprobes. One proved to be the property of Dr. Hawley, another belonged to the Beebe family barn, and the third had not yet been identified. Quiros professed to know nothing about them, saying they belonged to Garcia. Garcia has not yet broken silence on the subject. The two men will probably be given an examination today.

EPWORTH LEAGUE LECTURE.
The lecture given last night under the auspices of the literary and social department of the Epworth League of the Central M. E. Church South, was quite a success. There was a good attendance and much interest shown in the program. The "Dixie" quartet sang two popular songs after which Dr. Dameron introduced the speaker, Dr. J. W. Foss, in a few well chosen words. Dr. Foss took for his subject "The Secret of Success from the Standpoint of a Physician," and made excellent use of blackboard sketches to illustrate his subject. His main point was that the invisible soul within the body was the real person and not the material substance which forms the body. At the close of the lecture the "Dixie" quartet again rendered two excellent pieces and being encored the second time closed with the song "Dixie," which took well with the house. The League will give its next lecture two weeks from this one. The money raised at these gatherings goes toward raising the $100 promised by the League on the church debt.

BRILLIANT PROSPECTS.—A Red-evil has returned from a trip to Yuma and Tucson, the whole journey being crowded into four days. He says these towns are both booming, and Tucson particularly is building rapidly the city having an air of general prosperity. Yuma is just as prosperous in proportion to her size, but being a smaller town, there is no much going on. However, business was never better there nor were prospects ever so bright as at this time. Mr. Redewill also availed himself of an opportunity to journey down the river and see where the Rio Colorado, wandering from the path of rectitude, has strayed off into the Salton basin. He says that practically the entire flow of the river is still going into the basin. Another side trip was made to the Salton sea just to gratify his curiosity. Incidentally, he did a little business for himself, disposing of two planes in each town. Two representatives of the firm were in the north and sold three planes during the week, making seven in all, but the "old man" still considers himself capable of doing as much business as any two men he can hire.

A TWILIGHT CATASTROPHE.
If anybody thinks the Phoenix messenger is a service in the kind one reads about in the funny papers, he should ask Gus Noll for a little expert testimony. Mr. Noll was going west on Adams street about dark last night and met a messenger boy going east near the Presbyterian church. Gus was going some himself and the messenger boy was fairly splitting the air, both being mounted on bicycles. Gus turned to the right and the messenger boy turned to the left. They might as well have both kept on the main line as for both to take the same sidetrack, and the result was a collision that scattered human and mechanical debris all over the street. The messenger boy was the first to regain his self-possession, and gathered up his injured wheel and moped away. Gus was rescued by J. Wesley Walker, who lives nearby and who stood him on his feet and told him who he was and what had happened to him. Then they picked up such pieces of Mr. Noll's bicycle as they could find and piled them up by the roadside and went immediately to the office of Dr. McIntyre, a few rods away, where Mr. Noll was properly assayed and appraised. It was found that there was enough left of him to be worth saving, so he was patched up and put in commission again, though he still looks like a second-hand store. His injuries are all surface abrasions and a good-sized gash in his forehead above the nose, a gory crescent over that member, and a few sore spots and scratches about the head and on his hands. He bled profusely and when first patched up he looked like a cigar store Indian, who had gone through Custer's last charge, but his injuries are not serious and he'll be all right in a few days, unless he meets another messenger boy.
